

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a developed condition of a female terminal, an interconnecting portion is disposed between a pair of resilient piece portions. Notches each having a shape corresponding to 5 the wide part of the interconnecting portion, are formed between the resilient piece portions and the interconnecting portion.